Why We Exist

One33 exists to build our nation through reconciliation.

Not surface-level peace.

Not forced agreement.

But real reconciliation — the kind that requires the courageous work of taking responsibility for what has been done wrong and actively restoring what has been lost because of it.

We believe this is where true healing begins.

Across race.

Across culture.

Across generations.

Across gender.

In a world marked by division, we are committed to seeing people brought back together — with honesty, humility, and purpose.

The name One33 comes from an ancient declaration:

“How good and pleasing it is when brothers dwell together in unity.”

This is the future we are building.

A nation where trust is rebuilt.

Where relationships are restored.

Where unity becomes a foundation for lasting strength

At One33, we don’t just talk about reconciliation — we pursue it, practice it, and build pathways for others to live it.

Because when people come together in true unity, something powerful is released — not just for individuals, but for entire communities and nations.

One33 — Restoring what was broken. Rebuilding what matters. Living in unity.

What We Do

We facilitate reconciliation where it matters most — in real communities, with real people, facing real issues.

We lead intentional reconciliatory processes that address the human side of broken relationships — creating space for honesty, ownership, and healing.

But we don't stop there.

Through trusted partners, we help facilitate restorative action — rebuilding what was lost through:

- Abuse of power
- Cultural division
- Gender bias
- And systemic brokenness

We bring together the relational and the practical.

Because reconciliation is not complete until:

- Truth is faced
- Trust is rebuilt
- And what was lost is meaningfully restored

We don't just repair relationships. We help rebuild communities.

Partner With Us

Reconciliation takes time.

It takes presence.

It takes trust.

And that kind of work requires consistent, committed support.

Your partnership enables us to invest the necessary time and skilled people into communities — building relationships, facilitating processes, and restoring what has been lost.

Give Financially

Financial contributions play a vital role in sustaining this work.

Your giving helps:

- Fund skilled facilitators and community practitioners
- Create space for meaningful, ongoing engagement
- Support long-term reconciliation processes (not quick fixes)

You can partner with us through:

- Direct bank transfer
- Zapper

For South African donors, Section 18A tax certificates are available.

When you give, you're not just donating — you're helping rebuild trust, restore dignity, and unite communities.

Our Governance

At One33, we believe that trust is built through integrity, accountability, and transparency.

Because we work in the space of reconciliation, we hold ourselves to the same standard we call others to — taking responsibility, stewarding well, and doing what is right.

What This Means in Practice

Accountability

We operate under a structured governance framework with independent oversight, ensuring that decisions are made responsibly and in the best interest of the communities we serve.

Financial Integrity

All funds are carefully managed, tracked, and reported. We are committed to responsible stewardship and clear financial transparency.

Ethical Leadership

Our leadership is guided by strong values, with clear checks and balances to ensure integrity in both decision-making and implementation.

Compliance

We adhere to all relevant South African NPO regulations and requirements, including those related to reporting, tax compliance, and Section 18A where applicable.
